MISCELLANEOUS.

Speech of Mr Webster.

The following is the report of the Speech of Mr Webster delivered at Faneuil Hall Boston before the Clay Club on their reception of the Whig Delegates to the National Convention.

Gentlemen, Friends and Fellow Citizens:

When I was invited, some ten or fifteen days ago, to be present at this meeting, called for the purpose of giving a response to the nominations to be made by the National Convention at Baltimore, I accepted the invitation with pleasure, not having then any idea of being at Baltimore myself. But it so happened that afterwards I did attend the Ratifying Convention in that place, and if by my presence there I gave any satisfaction to the universal Whig mind throughout the country, I am much more than paid for my attendance. (Cheers)

I had an opportunity on that occasion of expressing to the representatives of all the Whigs of the country, my entire and hearty concurrence in the results of the great, wise and patriotic Convention there assembled, from all parts of the land, to select candidates to the two chief offices of the Government, for the support of the Whig party But nevertheless I have great pleasure in being present here to-night, and in acting on the true theatre of Massachusetts, and before an assembly of her sons, the same part I was willing to perform before an assembly of representatives from the Whigs of all the country (Applause)

Gentlemen, I think there can be no doubt that the proceedings of the Baltimore Convention were such as, in both their great results, both do, and ought to gratify the Whigs of the whole country (Applause)

In regard to the nomination for the first office, the convention had nothing—or, at least, but little—else to do, than to give utterance to the general, I may say universal, feeling which had taken possession of the public mind It was not necessary for any one there, neither is it necessary for me, here, to enlarge in the discussion of the propriety of that nomination

I do not come among you to-night to extol the character of the gentleman who has been selected as the Whig candidate for President I have already said that the nomination meets my entire and hearty approbation (Cheers) I come neither ——"to bury Cæsar, nor to praise him"

To praise, to commend Henry Clay! For me, who have spoken so often, here and elsewhere, my opinion of the merits of him whom the Whigs have selected as their candidate, without—so far as my knowledge extends—a dissenting voice, for me to praise him were indeed

"Wasteful and ridiculous excess"

And as to burying him, gentlemen, however appropriate that may be to those who are his competitors it is very inappropriate to him—(Great laughter and cheering)

I concur with equally sincere gratification, gentlemen, with the nomination for Vice President. (Applause) I hardly dare venture to speak of the gentleman named for this office, because, besides my great respect for him as a public man, besides my high regard for his public virtues and public services, I cherish a particular, I may say an affectionate, esteem for the loveliness of his private character for all those virtues which adorn his private life—(Cheers)

Gentlemen, our candidates are now before us. They are before us under auspices of perfect union, so far as I know, and the only question which remains for us to consider is, whether by an effort of ours—a reasonable and judicious effort—we can elect them

With regard to the nomination of Vice President, it has the entire concurrence of the party. No doubt Massachusetts would have been gratified, if the gentleman whose name she sent to the convention had been chosen, and if the good of the cause had allowed that body, in its conscience and discretion, to select the gentleman whom this State had recommended. But, as has been remarked, there were several candidates; and for one I can only say, that they all were worthy, and that whoever had been selected would have received my hearty support. But I will say further of Mr Davis, (great cheering) that I have been long acquainted with him in the public service in Congress, as well when a member of the House of Representatives, as afterward in the Senate; and it is with great pleasure that I now, as at all times, bear cheerful testimony to the merit of his services. (Much applause.)

I do not mean, gentlemen, to derogate in the slightest degree, from his merit in other respects, when I mention two particular subjects in which we feel great interest, and in which we are greatly indebted to him

And first, a matter in which the people of this Commonwealth feel an especial interest; I mean the just claim of Massachusetts upon the general government, growing out of the war with Great Britain. It is now eighteen or twenty years since Mr Davis mastered this subject in all its bearings, and he has had much to do in carrying our claim through the Senate, till its acknowledgement by that body, as being in accordance with the policy of our government and the principles of law.

But there is a higher and more general ground on which he should be esteemed. In my opinion, hardly any man in the country, during the last twenty years, has done more to protect our home industry, to protect the work of our citizens, and the labor of our countrymen, than John Davis. (Cheers) Both in the House and Senate his conduct was always uniform, his arguments able, his course favorable to the advancement of that cause And he is as much entitled as any man, within my knowledge, to the praise of being an able and zealous friend to American industry. (Much cheering)

I say nothing of the other candidates presented to the Convention. It is enough that the selection was made after fair discussion, and in a friendly spirit. The result was one in which all good Whigs cordially unite, and if Frelinghuysen is not elected on the same ticket with Clay, it will be because the Whigs have not the power—which we all believe they have—to accomplish the end they have proposed to attain.

Now, gentlemen, our candidates being before the people, the question naturally comes up, what are we to do? The field is open—the career is before us. What remains for us to do, in order to accomplish our own wishes and the desire of our whole party?

Gentlemen, the first pledge of our coming success is our own union A union of purpose, a union of action, such as but once before existed since the termination of Mr Adams' administration.

[Here there was some disturbance in the hall, owing to the density with which the the people were packed together, and Mr Park said that if each one of the audience would take care to keep still himself, without regarding his neighbor, every thing would go on pleasantly and every one would be able to hear Mr Webster rejoined—"that, sir, is what I believe would be called self-government." After the laugh caused by this sally had subsided, Mr W went on.]

Next, gentlemen, to the good omen we have in this our own union, is that which is nearly as advantageous for us, though not so good for our adversaries—the notorious disunion in their ranks It is quite certain that the party opposed to us is broken into fragments and undecided which way to look. But we may not rely too much on this discord of theirs They have among them strong principles of cohesion, and we do not know what glue and putty and plaster may do to bring the party together again—(Laughter)

I am happy to say that during my political life, I have known no time when the great principles of the Whig party, which I consider the cardinal principles of good government, were so generally received by Whigs in all parts of the country as now (Applause) I will allude to but one of these—a just and reasonable protection for American industry in raising a revenue; in other words a tariff (Great cheering)

Now, gentlemen, I feel much respect for the Whigs of the South, for the nationality of sentiment they have manifested upon this point I esteem them for bursting the shackles of local prejudices, for their broad and general feeling for the interests of the whole party, which does them infinite honor and greatly promotes our advantages I honor such men as Berrien, (cheers,) Mangum, (cheers,) Archer, (cheers,) and others, who, living in a very different state of society from ours—born and bred in an atmosphere, shall I say perfumed with the odor of different doctrines from those which we cherish, have acknowledged, and agreed to the great doctrine that protection to the labor of the country is a political axiom of the highest importance

But I will not dilate upon this topic, because a just appreciation of this doctrine is now rapidly spreading over all the land—from east to west, from north to south—because I feel that all attempts to agitate the subject, to reverse the general sentiment upon it, will utterly fail, and because I entertain the confident hope, may I not say belief, that the present Congress, when it shall see fit to rise, will leave the subject undisturbed.

Gentlemen, the men we have selected as our candidates, are before the people. Their names we have submitted to the public for support or rejection. And what is it that it becomes us to do, as disinterested and patriotic members of this great Confederacy? Clearly to support the men we have chosen as fit to carry out our principles, with our hearts and our hands—to slacken not our efforts till we see the day—which we confidently believe will arrive—when the people of the whole country shall ratify the nominations just made by their representatives.—(Tremendous applause.)

But more particularly, what are we to do?—It has ever been my aim, if I could, to address myself on public occasions to the promotion of some particular good purpose; and if the time has ever existed when I was supposed to speak but for this, I trust it has gone by. I wish to make my system of thought and action conducive to the public good, and, so far as in me lies, I shall always endeavor so to do. And I hope the few remarks, of a practical nature, which I have to offer, will not be considered as opposed to this spirit.

Our candidates are before us. The principles of the contending parties are well known to the people, and it remains for the people, but more particularly for the young men—the active and intelligent young men of the country—to take their part in the work which is to be done. (Cheers.)

There are two agencies to be invoked; intelligent young men of the country, and an intelligent and honest press. The battle is with them, and theirs shall be the honor and the glory of the conquest.

The press! Who is there at the present day that does not regard it as the great lever of the human mind! For myself, I honor the press I honor all its honest and conscientious conductors. I regard it as one of society's greatest agents for good or for evil It addresses mankind daily. Not a valley nor a mountain-side, not a village nor a hamlet, not a home nor a man, but has its moral sentiment, I may say, more or less affected by the press. And while I would not diminish the responsibility resting upon its conductors, I am willing to accord to their duties, well performed, my entire meed of approbation. I wish to see no diminution in the zeal, no flagging in the ardent exhortation of the Whig press of the country. I may say that I wish to see even more argument, more reason, more rational persuasion in its columns, because I do believe, and I candidly avow my opinion, that many honest men in the country rank themselves among our opponents through ignorance or misapprehension of our principles. Our great want has been to reach the mind—to touch the intellect of these, and it can best be done through a well-regulated press.

My purpose now, as I have said, is to offer some practical suggestions on the state of our country and party. One leading fact which addresses itself to the mind in the connection I have been pursuing, is that in our New England there are not only many cities, towns, and villages, which are the centre of general information, but many hamlets removed from the sphere of its influence. I submit it to every man at all acquainted with the country, whether this is not true. In the cities and large towns, where papers are daily printed, and received by every mail, from all quarters of the country; where one man meets another, and interchanges intelligence with his neighbor every hour, there you will find forty-five out of every fifty such cities, towns, and villages to be Whig. (Loud cheers) But along the mountain side, in the remote glens and recesses of civilization, where a man has access to, and reads but one newspaper, adhering to one school of politics, what can we except from such a man but entire acquiescence in that school, and determined aversion to all others?

Now, my friends, I say here, as I said at Baltimore, we must make ourselves missionaries.—We must carry light into dark places (Cheers) We must raise our voices and expound our principles; we must diffuse knowledge among those who are not so favored as ourselves. And for this end, there is no more advantageous means than public addresses and meetings, throughout the whole country It is of the highest importance to meet men in their own localities; because an invitation to attend a public address will always attract more or less of those opposed in sentiment to the speaker, and there is ever some chance, that truth, spoken, or new views presented may change such hearers from their erroneous to the correct opinion. And therefore, I say that it is not sufficient for us only to hold great conventions, but we must go abroad amongst the people, we must endeavor to convince the unconvinced; to argue conclusively and persuasively against error, and to bring our neighbors into an adherence to those great principles of government and political action, on which we think the preservation of the country and constitution depend (Applause) Gentlemen there is a power in truth—there is a power in truth—which under the most inauspicious circumstances, finally works itself out, and makes itself acknowledged

Fellow citizens, in my opinion, the great principles of the federal constitution and the real interests of the country received a shock sixteen years ago, in the election of General Jackson to the Presidency, from which it is but just recovering (Great cheering) It is hardly too much to say that he caused a revolution, (renewed applause)—I do not so mean in the strict sense of of the word—but I do mean to say that by the strength of his determination, by the force of his iron will, which would submit to no counsel, by the principles he carried into his cabinet, by the opinions to which he adhered and on which he acted—pretty much in defiance of law and the constitution—he did much to unhinge Public liberty, and destroy the well being of the republic His doctrines tended directly to the subversion of all free government He pronounced distinctly that he was the only representative of the whole American people Where did he learn that doctrine

The constitution speaks of no sole representative of the people—it speaks of the president as no representative at all The people choose their representatives themselves by states or districts, our whole fabric of government is a limited system, and when any one man takes it upon himself to say he is the whole representation of the people, he means just what General Jackson did And what did he mean I will not say he did not mean to govern well—as he understood the matter (laughter)—but he meant to govern at any rate. No will but his own should have any effect. This was his idea, and while the constitution speaks of checks and balances, his, idea, his understanding was that his single department of government embraced and absorbed all the others. (Plaudits.)

I think the country is now returning from this doctrine. Certainly, no one now pretends to walk in the footsteps of General Jackson, with his own gigantic strides, (laughter and cheers) and I therefore incline to belief that we are coming back to a just view of the various relations of government, and to a reasonable consideration of its powers and duties, (Much applause.) But I will pursue this point no further

The Whigs have selected their candidates and presented them to the people. The principles they profess and maintain are consistant with those which the Whig party has maintained up to the present time. And what change do we want in those principles? We see, under their influence when they are carried, out, all the interests of the country bringing up fresh and budding, like the shrubs and the plants and the flowers, under the genial ministry of spring, putting forth their shoots luxuriantly, and bearing abundant fruit. What need, therefore, of change from these principles and these effects? Why not continue to support such principles and enjoy such fruits undisturbed by new agitations—unseduced by novel experiments? (Cheers.)

As I have said, we can elect both candidates (Vociferous applause.) It is not in the chapter of probabilities, hardly in that of accidents, that they can be beaten. Whether one or the other of the gentlemen spoken of as opposing candidates shall run against us, or whether they shall unite in a joint team, that team is sure of defeat. (Cheers.) Let us rejoice, then, in a prospect before us.—Blessed by Providence with personal good health, with prosperity in business, with bright hopes for the laboring and industrial classes, and with a certainty of success in the political contest to come—I beg to ask what is there which should not inspire us with joy?

Gentleman, I wish once more, on this public occasion, to signify my hearty concurrence in all the proceedings of the Baltimore convention. (Enthusiastic applause.)—And I pledge myself, my character, to exert whatsoever influence I may possess to carry into effect the nomination of that body; to sustain the men who will uphold the principles of the Whig party—that party which I regard as the true American party of the revolution and for all coming ages—nay, which I look upon the holding in its hands all that makes us great at home, or respected by foreign nations.

Political Prospects and Duties.

The divisions, heart-burnings and distractions in the ranks of our opponents—the determination of one portion of them to run Van Buren as their candidate for the presidency in spite of all opposition and the determination of another portion to avoid, if possible, the disaster of a defeat they deem inevitable with Van Buren, by a bold movement in starting some new man—the bad temper that is appearing among those who have heretofore acted together in harmony—all these things show that the essential power of Mr Van Buren's party machinery has become weakened. Now it is evident that if the whigs and those who are opposed to the policy pursued by the loco party while in power, will but labor with that zeal which the occasion demands, the candidates of the whig party, Henry Clay and Theodore Frelinghuysen will be elected to administer the government, and, in conjunction with Congress, to carry out whig measures, foster the industry of the country, and administer the government for the good of the people, the whole people, and not merely to reward political partisans.

It is a heart cheering thought and one that gives a largo hope and a firm confidence that the whigs all over the land are enthusiastically united in their candidates. One feeling, one impulse, seems to animate them. They wish to see the government fairly administered for the whole people. They wish to see that great interest, the labor of the country, suitably protected from foreign and ruinous competition.—They wish to see the executive power kept within proper limits, that it may not overshadow and weaken the other and more popular branches of the government. They wish to see a strict accountability of government officers enforced, and a rigid economy introduced. They wish the proceeds of the public lands equitably distributed among the States. They wish the government to acknowledge its just constitutional duties in all departments, and a strenuous, liberal, patriotic effort made to discharge them. Such an administration they expect from Clay and Frelinghuysen and their political associates that may be chosen to fill the seats of Congress. Such an administration they will have if they prove successful.

That they may be successful it is only necessary that they make suitable preparation and exert the appropriate action. They should meet together often to confer upon political matters. Clay Clubs should be formed in all our towns A thorough organization should be at once commenced. Political intelligence should be disseminated. Public addresses should be frequent. The whig press should be well sustained, and whig documents liberally circulated. If these things are attended to and every man discharges his duty with faithfulness, then we have the strongest assurance, the most abiding faith, that the whig cause will be in the ascendant, whig measures secured, and Henry Clay, on the fourth of March next, be declared president of the United States by the voice of the people, solemnly expressed at the ballot box. From henceforth let no effort be omitted, no duty neglected by any man, and the deliberate will of the people in 1840 will be reaffirmed, and its practical effect secured.

Fire.

About noon yesterday the two story double dwelling house on Cedar Street owned and occupied by Capt. John Meservy and William B. Harlow took fire, and the roof together with about half of the upper story of the main house and of the back part were consumed, together with a portion of the furniture in the upper part of the house. The neighboring house belonging to Walter Brown was once or twice slightly on fire on the outside, but was saved by the great exertions of our citizens and the fire department. The damage is perhaps some twelve or fifteen hundred dollars. Mr Harlow had six hundred dollars insured on his house and two hundred on his furniture. Captain Meservy had no insurance on his furniture, and probably none on the house, although a person living out of the city, having a claim upon the house, had agreed to keep it insured. The water was taken from the Reservoir near the Union Street Church and conveyed in two streams to the fire, and considering the distance, and the high wind it was marvellous that the fire was extinguished without causing greater damage.—The first alarm of the fire was given to the family by a boy running into the house; and upon Mrs. Harlow running to the chamber where her young child was asleep, she found the fire blazing through the ceiling within a few inches of the child's bed.

Law Reporter, May, 1844.

This number which is the first of Vol. VII, has come to hand, filled with the usual variety of legal matter. Among the contents is a notice of the Supreme Court Reports of Maine written by a successful practitioner of the Suffolk bar, of more than twenty years standing as the editor says, who has no prodilections or prejudices in favor of the Court or any of its officers. The article is called out by the notice of the same reports published in the March No. of the same periodical in which the editor spoke in the most disparaging manner both of the Court and the Reporter, and the bar of Maine. The writer in the present number seems to take a very different view of the subject and says, "We have never seen a new volume of reports from our sister State of Maine, but with real satisfaction."

* * * * *

"From that time, (the separation from Mass.) to the present in all the mutations of party their Supreme Court has been filled with a succession of men of high character for learning and integrity; in truth we affirm with some knowledge of the individuals of whom we speak that if that tribunal has been secured to any in New England it has been so only to the highest in the State from which they have been separated."

Of the Volume of Reports lately issued and which is more particularly the subject of the notice, he says, "it is creditable to the learning and diligence" of the Court. "The volume is a model for all reporters and judicial functionaries. We are not ashamed that it should pass from State to State, and even across the water as a specimen of American judicial learning and industry."

Of the labors of counsel he says, "that similcases as reported by Mr Shepley are discussed and decided considerably more elaborately in Maine than in Massachusetts—and so in regard to the learning exhibited."

This presents a very different and as we think a more just view of the matter than presented in the former article, which, as we presume, was written by Charles Sumner, Esq.

Concert.

There is to be an unrivalled concert of music at the City Hall this evening, by performers who understand the deep mysteries of the art, the effects of which has thus been discribed by an old writer:

"——In air the trembling music floats,
And on the winds triumphant swell the notes
So soft, though high, so loud, and yet so clear
Ev'n listning angels lean from heaven to hear,"

Our people love good music and they will honor them with their presence and their smiles its most skillful performances as the Kendall and their associate, the celebrated Harpist confessedly are. Such an occasion will not be allowed to slip away and so much real enjoyment be lost to our people on account of their not attending. No: we must all go early and drink deep of the exquisite delight that will be so abundantly provided.

☞ Messrs Smith & Fenno have received Parley's Cabinet Miscellany containing the second part of Lights and Shadows of History. A very interesting subject, and should be treated in the able manner of the distinguished writer. The numbers already published of this miscellany place them in the highest rank of works designed for general circulation among the people. Those who have not the advantages of great libraries, and abundant time to read, will find these volumes an interesting substitute.

☞ There will be a fine time at Mount Hope this afternoon The old and the young will be there with their offerings and besides enjoying a social interview and partaking of an elegant repast, an opportunity will be furnished for exchanging surplus, invest coin into gay flowers and living plants. Such a pick nick as that to come off this afternoon has never been seen down east.

Two Days Later from Texas.

The steamer Galveston has brought new files New Orleans from Texas up to the 27th.

The Trial of Com. Moore probably will not take place.

There had been a skirmish between the Frontier men and the Caronucha Indians.

A party of Mexican bandits had been captured near San Antonio by Maj. Hays.

The Texas papers were filled with speculations relative to re-annexation.

The Bark Wm. Ine, which had gone ashore upon the Pelican Island, after discharging her cargo, was got off.

☞ The New York Sun mentions the arrival in that city, from Philadelphia, of a number of catholic clergy and their friends, many poor Irish families with others of wealth, who intend to make New York their future residence. A similar emigration is directed towards Baltimore and other places.

☞ We are requested to state that a young man aged about nineteen years, calling himself Allen, but whose real name is probably John Gould, came to this city some weeks since, from Milo or some other town in Piscataquis county, and while at work on the Kenduskeag stream, in the town of Glenburn, was on Thursday, the 9th instant, drowned. His body was found the next day and suitably buried on Saturday. While in this city he worked with Mr Jeremiah Powell.

Fire at Castine.

Our correspondent at Castine states that the red store of C. K. Tilden on Commercial wharf in that town took fire on the roof on Monday. It was soon extinguished—damage trifling.

☞ It is reported in Washington that Mr Alex. H. Everett will be nominated as the Secretary of the Treasury.

It is said that Mr Tyler is desirous to recall several foreign ministers, Mr Everett, Mr Todd, Mr Jenifer, &c., but that Mr Calhoun is opposed to it.

☞ Mr Beacroft brought us yesterday from his garden at the late Wyatt farm a supply of good head lettuce and a new cucumber ten inches long. This is having good things in good season.

☞ The enterprising citizens of Corinth have in progress a beautiful Academy building in that town. It is to be completed by the coming autumn.

☞ There was a heavy white frost in this vicinity on Monday night.

☞ The proceedings of Congress on Friday were highly important.

☞ George H. Emerson, Esq., has been appointed Post Master at N. Castine vice. James Hooper.

CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, May 10.

In the Senate, Mr Huntington, from the Committee on Commerce, reported in favor of the indefinite postponement of the bill to re-model the Consular establishment

Mr Crittenden made the same motion in reference to the Army bill, which passed the House of Representatives.

The Senate are engaged in an exciting discussion upon Tappan's case. Mr Benton's roaring is heard afar off.

In the House of Pepresentatives,—Mr Cary of Me., appeared and was qualified, and took his seat.

Mr McKay called for the orders of the day, and the Bill to reduce the Tariff was brought before the House of Representatives.

Mr Barnard was allowed to address the House. Mr McKay, yielding for that purpose.

Mr McKay then spoke his hour, to close the debate, when a member from Tenn. moved the Previous Question.

The motion was seconded, when

Mr Elmer, of N. J. asked if it would be in order to lay the Bill upon the table.

The Speaker said it would.

The yeas and nays were called and the vote was 105 to 99, and the Bill was ordered to lie upon the table.

Mr Irvin, of Pa., moved a reconsideration of the vote.

The P Q. was called, and in the midst of this a motion was made to adjourn and lost. The motion was lost.

At this moment, when votes were most precious, Mr Goggin of Va., entered the Hall and was qualified.

The question returned upon reconsidering the vote by which the new tariff bill was laid upon the table The yeas and nays were ordered at quarter past three. The vote was ayes 99—nays 104—and the House refused to reconsider—and thus ends Mr McKays Tariff bill.

The House then adjourned

WRIGHT'S
Indian Vegetable Pills.

The True Character of Counterfeiters and Sellers of Counterfeit Medicines.

NO Medicine has been introduced to the American Public, whose virtues have been more cheerfully and universally acknowledged by its vast popularity, and extensive circulation, than "WRIGHT'S INDIAN VEGETABLE PILLS."

To descant upon their various virtues at this late season would be a work of supererogation, since few who peruse this article will be found unacquainted with the widely circulated proofs of the real excellence of the Medicine, to which many will be ready to add the testimonials of their own experience. But if further proof were needed of the value of the remedy it might be found in the fact that no Medicine in the market has been so shamelessly and repeatedly counterfeited. Ignorant, envious, avaricious, and unprincipled men, have in different places, manufactured a spurious pill, bearing a superficial resemblance to the true article, but composed either of impotent or deleterious ingredients, which they have sought to foist upon the public as the veritable

Indian Vegetable Pills.

These fraudulent Swindlers could never pass off their vile wares upon the public but for the connivance and assistance of self-styled respectable Druggists, who, for the sake of a little "filthy lucre," lend themselves to the monstrous and unhallowed system of imposition. The counterfeiter of a popular medicine is more criminal than a counterfeiter of current money. The injuries done by the latter sink to nothing in comparison with those inflicted upon society by the former. We might paint him wringing the mite from the hard hand of invalid penury which is extended for the boon of health, and receives instead the vile drug that protracts and aggravates disease, or to view it in its best aspect, suffers it to rage unchecked. How melancholy is the reflection that thousands may have been hurried to the grave by having a counterfeit substituted for the true Medicine; who but for the venal fraud might now be living in high health, the delight and hope of the social circle.—All classes are interested in putting down these vile Counterfeiters.

Let the Stores where they are sold be marked and Shunned.

Let the virtuous indignation of the community administer to all concerned in these unfair practices a general and withering rebuke.

CAUTION:

The public will please observe that the genuine Medicine has the following wording on the sides of the boxes.

"WRIGHT'S INDIAN VEGETABLE PILLS."

—Indian Purgative—

OF THE NORTH AMERICAN COLLEGE OF HEALTH.

And also, around the border of a label will be found in small type, "Entered according to Act of Congress in the year 1840, by William Wright, in the Clerk's Office of the District Court of the Eastern District of Pennsylvania."

It will be further observed that the printed direction for using the Medicine, which accompanies each box, are also entered according to Act of Congress; and the same form will be found at the bottom of the first page.

The slightest attention to the above few particulars will serve to protect the purchaser from fraud, and save the lives of those who may otherwise be endangered by using a Counterfeit Medicine.

The public will also remember, that all those who sell the genuine Indian Vegetable Pills are provided with a certificate of Agency, signed by and that Pedlars are never in any case allowed to sell the genuine article. All traveling Agents will be provided with a certificate of Agency as above described; and those who cannot show one will be known as base impostors.

The regularly appointed Agents can receive their supplies of the above popular pills, as heretofore, from the only Office and General Depot for the New England States

NEW PRINCIPLES OF PURGATION.

CORNARO'S

Purifying and Preserving PILLS.

THE American public has for a long time been the victim of a false and dangerous system of medicine founded on the practice of LONG CONTINUED AND UNRELIEVED PURGATION. The evils of this old system are of the most widespread and alarming character. They have reached through every vein and artery of our nation.—In every city, and village, and hamlet—in every State and Territory of our vast Republic, will be found those who have suffered, or who are still suffering from the injurious effects of this old system, of whose practical utility the disease, decay, and utter prostration of those who test it furnish the most condemning proofs!

COMMON DRASTIC PURGATION

Scours out the system by the most improper and violent means, and then leave it, weak, low, feeble debilitated, to regain its strength as best it may.—Sometimes the consequences of this old Purgative practice are worse than mere Debility. Inflammation of the Bowels, Slow Fever, Bloody Piles, and other horrible disorders are produced, simply from the want of some enlivening and preserving power in the medicine employed. Sometimes the digestive organs are deeply and permanently injured by this coarse and unphilosophical practice, leaving the patient AN INVALID FOR LIFE.

The alarming evils and absurdities of the old system of Purgation, have led to the introduction of a new Life-giving Medicine, called CORNARO'S PURIFYING AND PRESERVING PILLS, which are established on this new and only true principle of Purgation, viz:

NO PURGATION WITHOUT IMMEDIATE RESTORATION.

The use of this admirable Purgative remedy strikes a death blow to that abominable system, which by continually evacuating the bowels without any conservative or saving power, so dreadfully and fearfully prostrates and injures the unhappy patient. These Purifying and Preserving Pills are believed to constitute the perfection of medicine, being a UNIVERSAL VEGETABLE PURGATIVE, containing two great remedies combined viz: One remedy to PURIFY FROM CORRUPTION, and another to PRESERVE FROM INJURY AND DECAY.

And for the purpose of attaining the highest degree of purity in the preparation of these Pills, Dr Bradlee has, at a vast expenditure of time and money, invented and patented at Washington, a chemical and philosophical apparatus for distilling and refining vegetable extracts, called

THE SEVEN-FOLD FURNACE,

A powerful and novel machine—having Seven Fires and Seven Alembics, with distilling, condensing, and evaporating fixtures of a new and ingenious contrivance, capable of obtaining more than seven times the ordinary purity of any vegetable extract heretofore used in compounding medicine. The Balsamic and Preserving power of these Pills is also, by this invention, highly purified and refined, and so mingled with the operative medicine, that it repairs all the injuries created by Purgation as soon as they are caused, and strongly fortifies the system against future corruption and decay.

Let the public be no longer deceived by the advertisements of the "one remedy" doctors, who show their entire ignorance of the organic laws of the human system by supposing that a medicine which purges merely, without renovating or preserving, can be a perfect remedy. For it is a fixed and immutable law of our being that there should be, in no case, Purgation without immediate Restoration; and hence it follows, and is proved to demonstration, that all Purgatives which DO NOT possess a saving and preserving power, are injurious, and injurious only—and possess NOT ONE REDEEMING QUALITY.

The whole theory of common drastic Purgation is based upon unnatural and absurd laws, and they who follow it fall victims to their own folly, and too late repent their temerity.

☞ BEWARE OF UNRELIEVED PURGATION! Purge and Preserve, or do not attempt to Purge at all.

☞ The celebrated PURIFYING AND PRESERVING PILLS, purify the body from corruption and preserve it from injury and decay by a single operation. They are a Universal Vegetable Purgative, of sovereign use in all diseases of the human system in which purgation is required, particularly in Jaundice, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Eruptions of the Skin, Scrofula, Piles, Costiveness, Bilious Disorders, Liver Complaint, Fevers, Nervous Disorders, Inward Weakness, Cholic, Dysentary, Worms, Gout, Rheumatism, Female Complaints, Depression of Spirits, Debility of System, Fits, &c., &c.

Dr. D. Jayne's FAMILY MEDICINES.

JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT.

THIS invaluable medicine is daily effecting some of the most astonishing and wonderful cures that have ever been known. All who have used it for Asthma, Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Whooping Cough, Croup, Hives, Consumption, Chronic Pleurisy, Hoarseness, Pain and Soreness of the Breast, Difficulty of Breathing, and every other disease of the LUNGS and BREAST, can and do attest to its usefulness. BRONCHITIS, a disease which is annually sweeping thousands upon thousands to a premature grave, under the mistaken name of CONSUMPTION, is always cured by it. The usual symptoms of this disease, Bronchitis, are Cough, Soreness of the Lungs or Throat, Hoarseness, Difficulty of Breathing, Asthma, Hectic Fever, a Spitting up of Phlegm or Matter, and sometimes Blood. It is an inflammation of the fine skin which lines the inside of the whole of the wind tubes or air vessels, which run through every part of the Lungs. The Expectorant immediately suppresses the Cough, Pain, Inflammation, Fever and Difficulty of Breathing, and produces a free and easy expectoration, and a cure is soon effected.

It always cures ASTHMA. Two or three large doses will cure the CROUP, or HIVES of children, in from a few minutes to an hour's time. It immediately subdues the violence of WHOOPING COUGH, and effects a speedy cure. Hundreds who have been given up by their physicians as incurable with CONSUMPTION, have been restored to perfect health by it.

If this Expectorant be given in the commencement of PLEURISY, INFLAMMATION OF THE LUNGS, or in acute RHEUMATISM, in doses sufficiently large, as to cause a little nausea for some time, going to bed and covering up warm, it will produce perspiration, and subdue these affections at once.

Tonic Vermifuge.

WORMS IN CHILDREN. Of all diseases to which children are exposed, none are so fatal to them as Worms. Unfortunately, children are seldom free from them, and as they imitate the symptoms of almost every other complaint, they often produce alarming effects without being suspected. They are not only a cause of disease themselves, but by their irritation aggravate other diseases, wandering from one part of the body to another, winding themselves up into large balls, and obstructing the bowels, and frequently the throat, causing convulsions, and too often death. The desired remedy will be found in Dr. JAYNE'S TONIC VERMIFUGE, which will very soon destroy the worms, and invigorate the powers of digestion so as to prevent a return of them. PRICE 50 cents.

JAYNE'S CARMINATIVE BALSAM

This is one of the most efficient, pleasant and safe compositions ever offered to the public, for the cure of the various derangements of the Stomach and Bowels, and the only article worthy of the least confidence for curing CHOLERA INFANTUM or SUMMER COMPLAINT; and in the above and following diseases, it really acts like a charm, viz:

Dysentery, Diarrhea or Looseness, Cholera Morbus, Summer Complaint, Cholic, Griping Pain, Sour Stomach, Sick and Nervous Headache, Heartburn, Water-brash, Pain or Sickness of the Stomach, Vomiting, Spitting of food after eating, and also where it passes through the body unchanged; Want of Appetite, Restlessness and Inability to Sleep, Wind in the Stomach and Bowels, Hysterics, Cramp, Nervous Tremors and Twitchings, Sea Sickness, Faintings, Melancholy and Lowness of Spirits, Fretting and Crying of Infants, and for Bowel Affections and Nervous Diseases.

PRICE 50 cents.

Hair Tonic.

NO EXCUSE FOR A BALD HEAD. Since the important discovery of Dr JAYNE'S HAIR TONIC, every one may, if they choose, preserve their hair from falling off, or if already bald, may, with certainty, have the hair restored again by a faithful and persevering application of this valuable HAIR TONIC.

Please to read without prejudice the following communication, which, in addition to hundreds of others equally respectable, should remove the doubts of every reasonable person of the uniform and singular efficacy of JAYNE'S HAIR TONIC.

HAMILTON, Feb. 15, 1840.

Dr. D. Jayne—Dear Sir: I cannot say my hair is restored, but I can say that it appears to be in as rapid process of restoration as could reasonably be expected. I had not finished the first bottle, before a decided change was manifest over the bald part of the head, on which it was applied. A new growth of fine gloss hair, much like that of an infant, appeared, and has continued to increase, and I have had it cut two or three times. I have recently commenced upon the third bottle, but have been a good deal irregular in the use of the Tonic from the first, and from this cause I apprehend the effect is at present less than it otherwise would have been.

I began the use of the Tonic with little or no faith that it would ever be successful on my head, though I felt entire confidence in your statements of what it had done for others; and I was as much surprised as delighted when I saw the effect. You recollect the appearance of my head when in your office. I assure you the hair has been nearly, if not quite, an inch long the times I have had it cut, on those parts which were nearly destitute of any when you saw me. It was, however, very fine, though quite thick. I am flushed with sanguine hopes of final success, in the diligent use of your Tonic, which, amidst all the hair humbugs which have been advertised in the papers, I am constrained to believe is what it claims to be, and that it will make the hair grow, and no mistake, at least on some heads.

Jayne's Sanative Pills.

These Pills are an excellent, mild and safe purge at all times, and are exceedingly useful in Dyspepsy and obstructions of the Liver. Persons taking them can eat and drink as usual, without fear of injury; and, what is of infinite advantage, making the use of mercurial preparations, so frequently used in derangements of the stomach and liver, unnecessary.

These Pills may be taken at all times, and are beneficial in nearly all diseases. They have long been a favorite prescription of the proprietor for all obstructions of the Liver, Spleen, Kidneys, Uterus, and all other organs of the body—Inflammatory, Intermittent, Remittent, Bilious, and every other form of Fever—Jaundice and Liver Complaint. For Dyspepsy they are really an invaluable article, gradually changing the vitiated secretions of the stomach, and producing healthy action in that important organ. They are very valuable in diseases of the Skin, and for what is commonly called "impurity of the blood"; also for Female Complaints, Costiveness, &c. &c.—and in fact every disease where a Aperient, Alterative or Purgative medicine is required.

☞ Four fifths of the numerous and distressing cases of DYSPEPSY POSITIVELY CAN BE CURED by persevering use of this valuable SANATIVE.

They are expressly prepared to be used as an Aperient, when purging is necessary, while using his Expectorant, and for the removal of obstructions in the Liver which are often attendant on some of the diseases of the Breast.
